

Director, Business Operations

PanTher Therapeutics is on a mission to revolutionize cancer care with a proprietary treatment platform designed to enhance therapeutic response with minimal side effects. Our highly adaptable platform empowers oncologists to treat patients with life-threatening cancer by unlocking a drug's full potential through direct, sustained treatment at the tumor site. This distinctive targeting capability uniquely positions us to take on the deadliest and most difficult to treat cancers with a lead investigational candidate in pancreatic cancer.

About the Role

We are looking for an energetic and purpose-driven individual who can work collaboratively with other functional leaders to achieve vital business goals.

As Director of Business Operations, you will report directly to the CEO and work closely with rest of the leadership team to define and implement critical cross-functional processes and systems. You will be responsible for building a business infrastructure that will drive collaboration, promote operational excellence, and scale with the organization. This role is ideal for a talented, innovative, and self-motivated "doer" who has a track record of problem-solving and top tier execution in a corporate environment.

Responsibilities

- Work directly with the CEO on fundraising and board-level activities, including preparing for and completing the company's Series B raise
- Design and implement strategic business and operational processes that will enable PanTher Therapeutics to scale efficiently and quickly (e.g. financial infrastructure, HR systems, etc.).
- Lead financial operations including planning, budgeting, and forecasting
- Serve as the connective tissue of a cross-functional team (including product, finance, legal, and HR) and drive the team towards actionable results across our key initiatives
- Stand up new initiatives and build capabilities that enable the company to deliver game changing results
- Work with the team to identify key business challenges that need a solution - from knowledge gaps to organizational gaps – and then lead the charge to solve those challenges
- Bring the business maturity and discipline needed to implement processes, systems, and people to support long-term scalability of the organization

Qualifications

- MBA or 3+ years of management consulting or similar experience preferred
- Willing to roll up your sleeves without losing sight of the big picture
- Ability to set clear goals and metrics and assess personal and company-wide results with objectivity and accountability
- Strong multitasker with the ability to prioritize work based on business and operational needs
- Ability to execute independently and in ambiguous situations
- Biased towards action
- Extremely versatile and agile
- U.S. Work Authorization is required for this role
